

Since my wife and I moved into our new home, there have been times that an evening has not gone by that we do not receive an unsolicited phone call from some telemarketer or another. We tell them we do not want to be called, but I have received calls from the same person using a different company name. One time, I received a call asking for me, I told them not to contact me again and then I get a call not 5 minutes later asking for my wife. It is very annoying. I have even had to buy a special telephone that blocks the computer-generated calls (which was not cheap). I should not have to do this. Furthermore, I am always on alert as an Emergency Essential Civilian with the Department of Defense and am currently deployed in Iraq. I do not need these companies tying up my phone lines with calls for services that I do not want. If I want something, I can go to the Internet, yellow pages, or my counties Extension office. Please do not infringe on my rights not to receive calls.
